The New Orleans Extension of the Southern Pacific Completed.

THE UTAH COMMISSION ORGANIZE IN CHICAGO FOR BUSINESS.

Grant Gives his Views on the Egyptian Question—He Favors English Occupation—A Story of Cure by Faith in the Efficacy of Prayer.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW ORLEANS, July 19.—The Picayune says: Several years ago Vice President Wheelock announced to a Picayune reporter the last rail on the New Orleans & Texas Pacific railway completing connection of New Orleans and San Francisco would be laid by the middle of July. That event was accomplished on the morning of July 1? at a point on the Atchafalaya valley beyond the river. The only break in the continuous line of rail is at Atchafalaya in Louisiana, where the flood which has prevailed since February has retarded the bridge at that place. However there will be no stoppage of trains because a large ferry boat constructed to transfer cars has been provided and at this moment the only real obstacle to sending through trains is near Atchafalaya river where the track is covered with water but only to a limited extent for the flood has already abated several feet. The railway company is now engaged in raising this portion of the track and in two weeks it is expected to be high and dry and solid enough for any traffic. Vice President Wheelock had been assured by General Superintendent Hoxie of the Texas Pacific he was prepared to send through to New Orleans 200 cars of freight per day as soon as the rails can take the trains and Wheelock will use every exertion to handle in a great traffic to the best advantage and with the quickest possible dispatch. He said his company will provide every appliance and facility for doing the business in first-class style.

Resolutions of Esteem.

SPRINGFIELD, July 19.—Officers of the executive and judicial departments of state have adopted the following:

WHEREAS, Mrs. Mary Lincoln is dead, a woman who owned the honor and love of one of the most distinguished citizens of our state and shared with him the highest honor that can be conferred by the people of this country, and had a wife's part in one of the noblest names in history;

WHEREAS, In life she participated in the distinguished honors conferred upon her noble husband, so in death she will be with him in peace, marked with a nation's admiration and people's gratitude; and

WHEREAS, During the many years since her cruel bereavement her life has been one of continued suffering and trials, and the sympathy of the American people has gone out to her from their inmost hearts; therefore,

Resolved, That we, as a mark of our regard for her memory and in esteem for her virtues, offer this tribute of respect, and extend to her distinguished son Robert T. Lincoln, and other surviving relatives, the full measure of our sympathy in their sad bereavement.

Resolved, That we close our respective offices and attend the funeral in a body.

An Expected Prize Fight.

MILWAUKEE, July 19.—Articles are signed and money put up for a glove fight to take place Saturday, August 5, between John Brooks, claiming to be champion of the Pacific coast, and John Ward of this city. The fight will be for a purse of $500 and gate money. Brooks has been some time seeking an encounter with some representative of Wisconsin muscle and science. He fought Martin Beavoste a few weeks ago, and although the result was declared a draw, the universal opinion was he was the better man. He has a reputation of being a hard hitter. Ward has never participated in a public encounter, but is a terrific hitter and has some science. He will go into training to-morrow. The fight will take place at Cold Spring driving park, under Marquis of Queensbury rules, contest to last till the better man wins. No event of this nature has ever attracted so much attention in this section as this does. Betting is lively and heavy, Ward's backers leading and offering at even money.

A First-class Fish Story.

ERIE, Pa., July 19.—The power of imagination has been well tested here. Miss E. Gryson, bed-ridden from spinal disease for many years, decided to try the prayer cure Sunday night. Assembling her relatives and friends she bade them stand still and behold the salvation of God. Six minutes past 8 o'clock she arose from a bed from which she had not risen for three years and walked in their midst, a well woman. Two skeptical sisters were immediately converted and fell upon their knees asking forgiveness for their unbelief. It happened however, the doctor's arrangements for prayer miscarried and no prayer was made.

Attempt to Create a Sensation.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Some days ago two Swedes were arrested for petty larceny, and proceeded to create a sensation in jail by confessing a horrible murder perpetrated by them in Sweden. The story was improbable for many reasons, but was brought to the attention of the Swedish minister at Washington, and the men, Hilding and Robertson, were held for murder. To-day the Swedish minister telegraphs that investigation shows no ground for holding them, and they are only held on a grand larceny charge.

Merchants vs. Railroads.

NEW YORK, July 18.—In the freight suits against railroads to-day, after recess Col. James began his argument for the merchants. He reviewed the history of the strike in connection with the blockade of freight, and contended that a corporation holds its powers as a trust to be used for the public good. To-morrow the attorney general and ex-Senator Conkling argue the question.

Resolution of Respect.

LITTLE ROCK, July 19.—A large meeting of the Little Rock [illegible] was held to-day [illegible] resolutions [illegible] congress to make the necessary appropriation to defray the expenses of keeping up quarantine regulations and special inspection on the Mississippi river against the spread of yellow fever and other diseases.

Death of a Pioneer.

WATERTOWN, [illegible], July 19.—Hon. Wm. Dennis, who settled in Wisconsin in 1837, died here to-day aged 72 years. He was a member of the territorial house of representatives in 1840, of the first constitutional convention and state senator in 1848-49, member of the assembly in 1853, and state bank comptroller from 1854 to 1858.

The Utah Commission Organized.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Ex-Senator Paddock arrived to-day and the Utah commission was organized by electing ex-Secretary Ramsey permanent chairman and Pettigrew temporary secretary. They have transacted no business, but are waiting further instructions from Washington before leaving for Utah.

Grant on the Egyptian War.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—Gen. Grant has been giving his opinion upon the Egyptian question to the Record. He sides with England, and says the people of Egypt are ten times worse off than the negroes of the south. He believes English protection would help develop the resources of the country and improve the condition of the people.

A Mexican Victory.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 19.—In the much talked of mayoralty election the Mexicans elected Romero by 200 majority. The whole territory and Colorado evinced much interest in the struggle and Americans are much grieved at the result.

Capsized and Drowned.

HOUGHTON, Michigan, July 19.—A party of three women and four men were riding on Portage river yesterday when the boat turned and drowned two women and one man, Geo. La Crosse and wife and Mrs. Joe Blanchett. Indians saved the others.

A Fenian Bonanza.

WATERFORD, July 19.—A railway van, containing a large number of military rifles and quantity of ammunition was broken into here and rifles and cartridges stolen to-night.

Failure at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, July 18.—Folger & Co., hardware merchants, have failed. They have filed suits against creditors. Their books show assets of $80,000. Liabilities, $91,000.

A Hopeless Case.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 19.—Senator Hill's case is hopeless though there is no prospect of sudden death but physicians decline to say how long he may survive.

Granted a Respite.

YANKTON, D. T., July 18.—Brave Bear, a Sioux Indian, who was to be hung on the 19th, has been granted a respite of sixty days.

Cases Postponed.

CUMBERLAND, July 18.—The ejectment cases of the Maryland Coal Company against strikers are postponed to July 26th.

Forest Fires in Michigan.

EAST TAWAS, Michigan, July 19.—Heavy forest fires are raging between here and Au Sable. Considerable damage has resulted to pine and cedar.

POLITICAL.

New York Greenback Convention.

ALBANY, July 19.—The national greenback labor state convention nominated Epenetus Howe for governor. The platform reaffirms the Chicago resolutions. George A. Jones was nominated for governor first, but declined and Howe was then nominated. Special resolutions condemn monopoly and the penal code and demand election instead of appointment of officials. James Allen was nominated lieutenant governor, J. L. Patton judge of the court of appeals and L. G. McDonald congressman at large. Convention then adjourned until to-morrow.

Congressional Nominations.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 19.—The greenback convention of the 13th congressional district nominated Ira J. Haseltine to-day.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 19.—The state democratic convention elected Capt. Henry Jackson chairman.

Political Notes.

CHICAGO, July 19.—The [illegible] state central committee to-day elected [illegible] chairman and Dan Shepard secretary. Persons [illegible] gentlemen are stalwarts and partisans of [illegible].

Rough on Morrison.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Indications are that greenbackers and republicans in the 18th Illinois district [illegible] Morrison will unite upon a candidate in the district.

An Independent Candidate.

DABBLERS IN DYNAMITE.

A Reported Discovery in the Secret Work of the Dynamite Section of the Fenians.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The London Times of the [illegible] instant contains disclosures concerning the personnel and plans of what is called the dynamite party in this country, which [illegible]. Its correspondent appears to have been commissioned to ferret out all the facts [illegible] well informed and the result of his inquiries may be summarized thus: Headquarters of the organization are in this city. Men are engaged in forwarding its work in every large city in the United States though [illegible] New York their chief hiding place is Chicago. While O'Donovan Rossa was at one time the projector and conductor of the party he is not now nor has he been for some time in any position to control it or even learn of its secret doings. In fact though sincere in his views Rossa is used too much for the conspirators to trust him and while his Irish society directory were general managers of the business they used him only as a figure head. They directed their operations generally without his knowledge and on this account he remains in a somewhat dissatisfied condition of mind. The chief managers are a triumvirate composed of Dr. Shine, Spearman and Byrne, with some lesser lights, but the principal is Dr. Shine, in some respects an influential New York Irish democratic politician who has held some offices and was a physician of repute. The funds are controlled by this person and these have at times amounted to from $20,000 to $40,000. The hatred of England is the main spring of the movement and its chief [illegible] is to harass the government at every vulnerable point, to destroy the lives of officials most instrumental in opposing Ireland and show the English generally, by destruction of property and public buildings that it is for their interest to make peace with Ireland on the best terms and let her go as an independent nation. The dynamite party we are further informed has permeated the land league and been aided by many on both sides the ocean who were members of that body. They have a regular system of cable correspondence with friends in Ireland, so conducted that it is impossible to find them out. The discovery by British detectives of infernal machines sent over last summer led to indirect comments and led to a radical change in their plans. A scheme was laid in the west to capture the Princess Louise who was expected to accompany the Marquis of Lorne on his recent tour to Manitoba. The conspirators formed a project of sweeping down upon her and keeping her as a hostage until Irish suspects should be released, but as the princess did not come out to Canada the plot failed. Detectives had found out and sent over a warning and she prudently remained in England. Last autumn they planned an expedition to Bermuda, and selected men to go with a view of blowing up the government floating dock there. The men arrived safely out, and were proceeding with cautious steps to execute their mission when Bermuda authorities, acting as if somebody had informed them what was in the wind, the party were obliged to return to New York. Agents of the society next went to Canada to visit Montreal and Quebec and Halifax, and finally went to St. Johns, N. B. At Halifax were war vessels, but none of them in position to be vulnerable, and not one could be got to undertake the task. At St. Johns they found an old sloop-of-war in charge of a watchman and it was determined to blow this up. They went back to New York to get material, but discovered in a few days from some developments at St. Johns that the plot had leaked out and this too was abandoned.

According to the Times correspondent, however, the society is persevering in its scheme. Last winter they opened a dynamite school in this city, and got a man with a Russian name to deliver lectures and give instructions upon the manufacture of the explosives. This school was in Chambers street but pupils were mostly brought over from Ireland. The lectures went on until it became the subject of remark from the regularity of attendance, when another place was got on the outskirts of Brooklyn and instructions given at irregular intervals so as to disarm suspicion. The pupils were all bound by oaths to carry out orders of their masters whom they do not know and will never see, if the orders are communicated in a certain way indicating their authority.

The writer goes on in detail to describe the various patterns of infernal machines this school is now turning out. The equipment of these scholars he says is now the chief business of directors. It is also intimated the murderers of Lord Cavendish and Burke are expected by the New York junta to soon arrive here by way of France.

Inquiry here to-day reveals the fact that the instructor in dynamite with the Russian name is Prof. M. Beroff, who came here a year ago. He is an able chemist. Dr. Shine denies that he is any way concerned with the dynamite business. Messrs. Spearman and Byrne, who are referred to in the London Times letter, are supposed to be George Spearman, a shirt maker doing business on Third avenue and Edward Byrne, a plumber. Both are well known Irishmen.

O'Donovan Rossa said to a World reporter to-day of the London Times article: The greater part of the story is true. I don't care to say what parts are true and what parts false. We have a chemical school in operation and our pupils are selected with care. Many of them came over from Ireland.

Kidnapped and Restored.

MONTREAL, July 19.—To-day it was made known that the mansion of Meloyne Smith, an American capitalist from Boston, resident here, had been entered last night by a band of scoundrels who carried off his third child, a bright boy of three years. On a cot from whence the sleeping babe was stolen a letter was found demanding payment of $10,000 within two days or his existence will be terminated. The most horrible threats were also contained against the father's life if he failed to comply or set the police at work. At a late hour this evening the abducted lad was found standing alone on a door step a mile from his home and restored to his parents.

Drowned.

A son of Hugh Evans, of Harvesburg, and a daughter of Mr. Evans of this city, were drowned while bathing to-day. The mother of the boy attempted to save them, and was also drowned.

Suspended Operations.

OTTAWA, July 19.—A special from Ottawa, Canada, says the [illegible] Mining Co. has suspended operations at their coal mines in Marmora, the reason being lack of capital. It is probable work will be resumed again soon.

HONORED AND BLEST.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of diseases that most all the remedies could be dispensed with, many were skeptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and to-day the discoverers of that great medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.—Democrat.

Wrangling still Going on in Congress over Recent Measures—Logan Introduces a Bill Regarding Transit of Chinese from Cuba.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—There is an interesting sensation brewing as usual in congress. A letter has been written by one J. T. Newell, formerly of Alpena(?), Michigan, in which he declares he has documents and papers to prove that no less than two million dollars in money, stock and lands was furnished for a pool in 1878 to 1879 to secure passage of a bill granting the land grant to the Texas Pacific R. R. His communication is very voluminous and makes specific allegations withholding only names of persons involved. He says forty thousand in money and twenty thousand in stock were placed in the hands of two senators to disburse where it would do the most good in that body, and it was properly placed so that eventually the grant was made in consequence. He alleges also $1,000,000 in stocks was used to pass the bill in the house by votes of members who took it as a price for the favor to the corporation. He asks the committee to name a day when he can be heard and he will demonstrate that investigation should be made. He pledges himself to furnish names of men who distributed and accepted the bribes and prove the transaction by documentary evidence. Some of the committee are for stifling an inquiry but it is understood a majority favor hearing what Newell has offered. The question is pertinent owing to the fact that the Texas Pacific never did any work to earn the lands but has since been consolidated with the Gould and Huntington southern system and a bill is now pending to confirm the grant to the consolidated roads on the ground that although the Texas Pacific was not built the Southern Pacific was constructed and has earned the lands. A majority of the committee favor non forfeiture of the land and naturally it is certain these gentlemen regard the exposure promised by Newell as a diversion against their position. Newell will no doubt be heard in a few days.

A Sad Fall from Grace.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Wm. Williamson, formerly of Newburyport, Mass., once chief clerk in the department of justice, was arrested yesterday and charged with larceny and is now lodged in a police cell awaiting a hearing. The charge is that he has been endeavoring to pilfer and sell a large number of autograph letters of prominent men which were taken from old files in the attorney general's office. Among the letters found in his possession were some of Wm. Wirt, Daniel Webster, George Washington and of most of the men prominent in the history of the republic. Some friends of Williamson's better days say that the charge is greatly exaggerated, as he was a great antiquarian and was once a man of some means and had an exceedingly valuable collection of autographs and a fine library. Williamson came here as private secretary of Chas. Sumner when that senator first came to Washington. He was a friend of most of the anti-slavery leaders and much respected. His last official position was that of confidential clerk of George H. Williams when the latter was attorney general. In that capacity he rearranged the archives of the department of justice. He was also an intimate friend of Sam Ward, and was in the employment of that man when he was king of the lobby. Williamson's fall is due to strong drink. He is about eighty, without a family. He is charged with a penitentiary offense.

The Wrangle in Congress.

The vote on the tariff bill is as yet uncertain as since debate began and the prospect for a long session developed, some difference of opinion has been manifested among republican senators as to the propriety of passing a bill with amendments at the present session. Yesterday notice was served by Hale and Ingalls in the senate upon Mr. [illegible], who has charge of the revenue bill, that they would oppose its consideration with the naval appropriation bill. This lack of harmony led to calling a caucus this morning at which it was substantially agreed that the internal revenue bill should have precedence of all other business for the present at least. In executive session Senators Garland, Voorhees and others on the democratic side intimated that they proposed to continue discussion for an indefinite length of time. Mr. Garland gave notice that if the resolution extending the appropriations of last year until the 1st of July was introduced he should at the proper time offer an amendment.

The Hawaiian Island Trade.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Minister Comly, of the Hawaiian Islands, has made a report to the state department on the trade of the islands especially in relation to its bearing on the reciprocity treaty between the islands and the United States. He gives the total value of exports from the islands for the year 1881 at $8,714,72[illegible]; value of imports, $4,54[illegible]; value of imports free by treaty from the United States $2,6[illegible]. Grand total of imports from the United States $3,715,045. Among the principal articles exported to the United States were sugar 93,789,483 pounds, value $6,174,000; rice and paddy 6,8[illegible],870 pounds, value not given. The amount of duties lost to the United States on this article was on sugar, $3,8[illegible]; on rice and paddy $171,091; total, $4,029,[illegible]. Against this is placed the value of goods sold to the islands, $3,715,045. Comly writes, I will ask that the secretary of state remember that there would not have been any such increased production of sugar in the islands except for the treaty and that much of this increased production is the result of capital and energy of American citizens who are as truly and faithfully our own people as citizens of Louisiana or any other state.

Prospects for Trade With New Zealand.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—In his report to the state department, Consul Griffin, writing from Auckland, speaking of the trade between New Zealand and the United States, says: "There is probably now a better chance for a direct trade between the countries than ever before. I do not doubt that new lines of sailing vessels established at Boston and New York will be successful, and there is strong reason to believe that communication between Australian colonies and the Pacific coast of the United States will be much more frequent in the near future than at the present time, inasmuch as outgoing and incoming boats of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for many months past, have had considerably more freight and passengers than they should be expected to carry with safety, the company will very soon be obliged not only to supply a greater number of boats for this line, but much faster ones."

Anxious to Maintain Friendly Relations.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—It is learned from the Mexican legation in this city that on account of intimations to the effect that the Mexican government entertains hostile designs against Central American republics, President Gonzales has instructed Gen. Lobera, Mexican minister to Central America, who has heretofore remained in the city of Guatemala, to make a tour of four states with a view to cultivating friendly relations with them and showing them his (President Gonzales) good will.

Confirmations.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Alvey A. Adee, third assistant secretary of state; Consuls Stephen H. Smith of Tennessee at Nuevo Laredo; S. A. Lathrop of District of Columbia at Bristol, England; U. S. marshal Z. L. Tidball of New York for Arizona; U. S. attorney J. A. Zabriskie for Arizona; Indian agents Llewellyn E. Woodin of Michigan at Pima and Pawnee agency; Philip P. Wilcox of Colorado at San Carlos agency; Samuel S. Benedict of Kansas Indian inspector; Postmasters Wm. J. Ewell Jr., Calistoga, California; S. D. Wilson, Breckenridge, Colorado; Frank Curtis, Spitken, California; Samuel E. Paxton, Bonanza, California.

A Civil Service Question.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—At senate executive session this afternoon two hours was consumed in discussing the nomination of Daniel Lanning to be postmaster at Penn Yan, New York, vice the present incumbent Cleveland to be removed for cause. This nomination has attracted attention by reason of published assertions that the real motive for removal of Cleveland was a desire to replace him by a stalwart. This feature of the case was referred to during the proceedings, the debate turning simply upon the question of sufficiency of cause. The nomination was finally rejected—yeas 28, nays 30.

A Plea from Tobacconists.

The executive committee of the National Tobacco association now assembled in this city to-day telegraphed members of the trade throughout the country requesting that they telegraph their representatives in congress protesting against unnecessary delay in granting a reduction on tobacco with rebate. They assert that pending action of congress over 50,000 operatives in tobacco are kept out of employment.

Washington Notes.

The judge advocate general has submitted to the secretary of war his report on the petition for release of Sergeant Mason on the ground he is illegally confined. Gen. Swaim merely reviews from a military law standpoint the legal points raised in the petition and makes no recommendation. He adheres strictly to the views expressed in his original report in the case, that the proceedings of the court martial are irregular and illegal. The case will not be reported to the president until after the return of Secretary Lincoln.

Secretary Chandler is acting secretary of war.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Sewell presented a communication from ex-Major General McQuade transmitting a resolution adopted unanimously at the recent annual meeting of the [illegible] corps asking that justice be done General Fitz John Porter. Sewell gave notice he would call up the bill for Gen. Porter's relief the first Monday in December next.

Executive session terminated at 4:30 when the doors were opened.

Although consideration of house joint resolution [illegible] until July 31st the resolution of June 30th providing temporarily for expenditures of government.

Upon recommendation of Garland joint resolution was referred to committee on appropriations.

On motion of Sherman the internal revenue bill was taken up and motion to adjourn defeated by a party vote, republicans voting no.

The question being Beck's amendment reducing the tax on manufactured tobacco, Ingalls said he would favor reduction to 12 cents and Beck modified his amendment accordingly. Large numbers of letters and telegrams protesting against [illegible] from manufacturers and dealers, were read by various members.

Farley read telegram from California dealers asking that the rebate clause to the house bill be retained. Without action senate adjourned.

Logan's Chinese Bill.

In the senate to-day Logan introduced a bill to construe section 2 of the act approved May 6th, 1882, to execute certain treaty stipulations relating to Chinese. The section punishes with fine and imprisonment the master of any vessel who shall knowingly bring within the United States in such vessel and land or permit to be landed any Chinese laborer from any foreign port. The bill provides that this section shall not be construed to apply to Chinese on board of vessels on transit between foreign ports touching at any point within the United States when such landing is to allow them to pass through this country to their own with no intention of violating such law. Logan explained and advocated the bill. He said it certainly had not been the intention of Congress to prohibit continuous journeying from one country to another through our own, but simply landing of Chinamen with the intention of staying. From forty thousand to sixty thousand Chinamen in the West Indies to-day whose terms of service were about expiring, desired transit through the United States to China and had no disposition to stop here. Under literal construction of the Chinese law of this session it was very doubtful whether authority could be granted by officers of the government to permit them to land on our shores. The proposition now offered would afford that authority. It was a harsh criticism upon the judgment and humanity of congress to assume that it intended under all circumstances to prohibit a vessel with Chinamen, yet the fact remained that the law imposed a fine and imprisonment as a penalty of violation of prohibition. An owner of a cage of tigers in transit through the country might turn them loose on the way, yet no such punishment was provided in his case. The prohibition here was not against wild beasts but against human beings. He had read by the secretary a communication from the passenger agent of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad setting forth the necessity for specific construction of that provision of the law governing the case and stating that the route from the West Indies to China, through the United States, is the shortest and most expeditious, as well as the most expensive, and that the company if permitted, would perfect arrangements for ticketing Chinamen through the entire distance in lots of 300 and 1000. Logan further argued that a refusal to concede the desired modification would materially strengthen public sentiment in hostility to the prohibitory legislation of this session and would hasten the repeal of that legislation. He hoped the prejudice against Chinese passing through the country would not be carried to the extent of turning them over to foreign ocean lines of transit. Miller expressed his disposition to take part in the discussion at this time, but as the bill was not directly before the senate, he moved its reference to the committee of foreign relations. Logan preferred to have the bill go to the judiciary committee and moved to refer it to that committee. Farley favored the reference indicated by his colleague, Miller, as the original bill had been handled by the foreign relations committee. Replying to Logan he denied truth of any hostility to Chinese legislation, and repelled any assumption that his own action was liable to be governed by race prejudice. He was disposed to regard the provision complained of as a necessary safeguard against the turning loose of Chinese laborers in transit in this country. Logan replied that when referring to the possibility of being turned loose, we were apt to talk about Chinamen as we would wild beasts. He deprecated this and argued that the safeguards covering this phase of the subject of the recent law were sufficiently adequate without the prohibition to which he had called attention. All kinds of wild beasts were transferred through the country and Chinamen were not to be allowed that privilege.

House.

House resumed consideration of the South Carolina contested election case of Smalls vs. Tillman.

Horr pointed out the boundary lines of South Carolina under its present redistricting for congressional purposes. This was not gerrymandering, it was villainy.

Atherton—Isn't it as fair as the gerrymandering of the 14th district of Ohio, which is to inflict on congress another of the Horr family?

Horr replied when congress was inflicted with his brother he could take care of himself.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, July 18.—In commons to-day Sir Charles Dilke, under foreign secretary, said the identical note addressed by the powers to the porte was still unanswered. Campbell Bannerman, financial secretary of the war office, said government entirely approved of the conduct of Admiral Seymour.

Drummond Wolff moved adjournment of the house and dwelt on the misleading character of government's replies. He believed Admiral Seymour did not land marines, June 11th, the date of the massacre, because ordered not to, and government remained inactive in order to allow Arabi Pasha to gather strength.

Gladstone said he had full responsibility for Admiral Seymour's action. His instructions to land a force at Alexandria were conditional and it did not appear to him necessary to do so.

Northcote thought the question of Drummond Wolff relative to Admiral Seymour's authority to land troops very natural in view of the grave events at Alexandria.

Gladstone said no instructions had been given Admiral Seymour, beyond the point raised, after May 5th.

In the commons this afternoon the financial secretary of the war office said that efficient precautions had been taken to protect Port Said, Ismailia and Suez but he could not enter into details.

Dilke, under foreign secretary, said the identical note of the powers to the porte regarding the dispatch of Turkish troops to Egypt was still unanswered.

Arabi Pasha's Army Retreating from the Position at Kfar el Dwar.

FRANCE PREPARING TO TAKE JOINT ACTION WITH THE ENGLISH.

The Country being Devastated around Alexandria—An Italian Consul Killed by Arabs—The Situation at Cairo—General War Notes.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

LONDON, July 19.—The Times has the following dispatch from Alexandria: Arabi Pasha's force is said to be increasing and not attacking him at once is regarded as a fatal mistake by authorities both English and foreign. It is stated wounded natives have been paraded in Cairo for the purpose of exciting animosity. At request of several residents of the American consulate authorities ordered a French shop in the same building with the consulate opened and respectable residents allowed to help themselves to such articles as they require on signing declarations showing what they have been taking.

A Deplorable State of Affairs.

LONDON, July 19.—A correspondent says: I drove yesterday nine miles along the line of Arabi Pasha's retreat and passed several villages the people in which are starving. Soldiers robbed them of everything. The entire route is lined with carriages and dead horses. It is reported that Bedouins harrassed the soldiers during their retreat killing 200.

Arabi Preparing to Move.

It is reported that Arabi Pasha is preparing to move. The disappointment and indignation are most keen at the great blunder of allowing the favorable moment for ending the revolt at a stroke to slip by when troops are detained in the city by orders from home. The natives state that during the retreat of Arabi Pasha one of the shells burst in the midst of a body of soldiers and killed 200 dragomen.

A Curious Khedive.

ALEXANDRIA, July 19.—Conduct of the khedive causes much surprise. He has for the last few days allowed several persons to be at the palace who are well known to have been intimately connected with Arabi Pasha. The khedive apparently trusts them, but it may be he is endeavoring to get them thoroughly in his power.

A Question of Protection.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.—British and French ambassadors have been instructed to submit to the conference the question of protection of the Suez canal and propose that execution of its provisions shall be entrusted to certain powers.

Depredations at Cairo.

ALEXANDRIA, July 19.—Sir A. Calvin, acting British consul general, has arrived from Cairo and reports soldiers with requisitions were breaking open stables and seizing horses. No other acts of violence committed up to the time he left the city.

Arabi's Excuse.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 19.—Arabi Pasha holds that the law and the ministers fully justified him in answering the British fire.

Egyptian War Notes.

PORTSMOUTH, July 19.—The tank vessel Chester has sailed for Egypt.

A telegram from the porte for Dervisch Pasha arrived shortly after he left here for Constantinople. Admiral Seymour sent after him and he is now returning.

No Europeans remain in Cairo except two Germans who refuse to leave.

The consul killed at Zugazig was the Italian consul.

Germany's Opinion of the Case.

BERLIN, July 19.—The Cologne Gazette and Berlin North German Gazette print articles on the Egyptian question which are regarded as being directly inspired and representing not only the policy of Germany but of all other powers except England and France. The articles state the Egyptian question will only be ripe for Germany after western powers have come to an understanding to apply for assent of Europe in view of the general need of peace. England may rely upon support upon all sides in her endeavor to bring about a settlement of the question especially if she strictly adheres to the role of defender of her just interests.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION

FOURTH DAY.

Rev. J. F. Marsh preached the communion sermon on the "Classes of professing christians who betray Christ," after which the communion was administered by Dr. Atkinson and Father Eells.

These exercises were followed by a meeting of the Sabbath school, before which twenty six members of the Forest Grove training school, led by Captain Wilkinson, who came last night, sang a few hymns, and addresses were made by Chaplain Stubbs and Rev. Mr. Cobleigh, of Walla Walla.

After an hour intermission nearly two hours were occupied in exercises by the Indian school, remarks by Captain John Smith and Rev. M. Eells, and in asking and answering questions on the Indian subject.

The evening was occupied in a missionary meeting in which addresses were made by Mess. Ellis, Cobleigh and Atkinson.

The day has been hot, the thermometer being in the region of one hundred degrees, and the people have been so interested as to fill the church full for about six hours and a half, and during the hottest part was crowded so that people were on the outside around the windows. The other pulpits in the city were occupied by other ministers of the body.

FIFTH DAY.

Rev. E. R. Loomis was chosen as alternate for preacher of the associational sermon for next year, Rev. P. S. Knight being the regular appointee. Rev. F. T. Clark, of Spokane Falls, as preacher of the communion sermon, and Rev. E. Geary as alternate. Rev. Dr. Marvin was requested to preach a sermon next year on the subject of the "Congregational Polity."

The clerks and the pastors of the various churches were requested next year to furnish their reports to the churches one month previous to the association, the current year to close June 15.

The constitution was amended so as to admit of a treasurer and Mr. Bower was then chosen to fill that position.

Rev. P. S. Knight was elected delegate to the Washington territory association and Mr. Eells alternate.

The afternoon was mainly occupied in an interesting discussion on the Indian question, after which the association adjourned sine die.

In the evening several of the members addressed a full house at a meeting of the Blue Ribbon Club, at the Methodist church.

Sixty four members, corresponding members and visitors from abroad, have been in attendance, representing thirty out of thirty-five churches connected with the body. It has been a very agreeable meeting, with hardly anything to mar harmonious feeling. It has also been a profitable meeting, profitable to get away from home and mingle with other scenes, and while there to do good and get good. If the people of The Dalles have found it more blessed to give of their hospitality, which has been very bounteous, than their visitors have found it to receive, then they must be very happy, and the exercises of Capt. Wilkinson's school have added not a little enjoyment to the occasion.

A Chinese Row.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—Yesterday three of the Chinamen employed in the cigar manufactory of J. I. Rosenbaum & Co. became dissatisfied with the strictures on their work of Assistant foreman Drolott and drew knives on him. They were discharged but came to work again this morning. On being ordered out, the whole Chinese force numbering 225 sided with them and all were then ordered out, but refused to go until paid off, which could not be done at that hour, the bank being closed. A row appeared imminent, the Chinese handling knives in a threatening manner. Police were called in and with the assistance of some white employes cleared the building without bloodshed. This afternoon they were admitted by squads and paid off. They desired to return to work at an increase of 25 per cent, which was refused and probably most of them will go to work at the old rates except a few of the more obnoxious ones who will not be permitted to return.

Proceedings on Call.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—At the annual meeting of the produce exchange this morning the retiring president read a report. It shows that the call feature of business has been more successful than anticipated. From February 27th to June 30th there was sold on call of wheat 341,000 centals, barley 1,172,540 centals, oats, 177,400 centals, bran 240,030 centals, rye, 58,000 centals, corn 62,020 centals and 2,589,000 bags, besides other miscellaneous produce, the whole amounting to a money value of [illegible]. Regarding negotiations with the merchants exchange, but one trivial difference now exists in the way of a lease of the property with right of purchase, and it is expected that it will be shortly removed. The question regarding expulsion or suspension of members of this exchange who have joined other similar organizations, notably the grain exchange, is still pending.

Arrival of the Alert.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—The United States naval survey steamship Alert arrived this evening, twenty four days from Yokohama. She has been engaged in survey work on the China and Japan coast for the past three years. When about to return, three months ago, she was run into by the Japanese mikado's steam yacht, 60 miles off Kobe, and badly cut, being obliged to put back for repairs, which detained her two months.

ARIZONA.

An Indian Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—A Whipple barracks, Arizona, dispatch says: Reports received via Verde from Major Evans, Third Cavalry, at department headquarters this morning say troops, consisting of the Third and Sixth Cavalry companies, Major Chaffee commanding, had an engagement with renegades from San Carlos yesterday at Chevelon's fork, about forty five miles from Fort Verde. Major Chaffee, who has been following the Indians since their outbreak from San Carlos several days ago got them into a deep ravine and the fight began as they had no other alternative. The casualties on our side are one enlisted man wounded and since died and five others wounded, two dangerously. Lieutenants Morgan and Converse of the Third Cavalry are wounded. One Indian scout was killed and one wounded. During the night the Indians broke leaving six dead bucks on the ground. Scouts reported about twenty more killed. All their equipage was left by them on the field, and thirty-two head of horses and mules were captured by troops, also six women and children. The hostiles were led by Nattiatish, one of the surrendered White Mountain Cibicu chiefs. These are supposed to be the Indians engaged in the recent outbreak at San Carlos when chief of scouts Colvig was killed. The command followed these Indians through some of the most mountainous country in Arizona.

UTAH.

Utah Notes.

SALT LAKE, July 18.—Last night the great western match factory in the lower part of the city caught fire and was totally destroyed. Loss $3800, no insurance. It was a new establishment and would have filled its first order to-day.

Five boys in Salt Lake are threatened with lock jaw from wounds received through toy pistols. One died last night, and another is not expected to live.

This afternoon Utah's exhibits for the Denver exposition left the city. They embraced 123 large cases and filled three cars. Another car will be shipped on Saturday. Great interest has been taken in the gathering of these specimens by Gentiles, the Mormons refusing to take any hand in it. They represent 300 mines of gold, silver, lead, copper, coal, iron, salt, sulphur, etc. Prof. Clayton, who was appointed commissioner, leaves to-morrow to arrange this great display of Utah's mineral wealth.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

A New President Appointed.

SEATTLE, July 18.—L. J. Powell, superintendent of public instruction for the state of Oregon, has accepted the presidency of the university of Washington, located in this city. He will open the school, with a corps of teachers selected by himself, on the 20th of September.

Negotiations at an End.

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—The executive committee of the republican state committee appointed to aid Chairman Cooper in conducting the campaign, and given discretionary power to act in the matter of the proposition submitted by Independents, met this afternoon. Chairman Cooper made no secret in advance of the meeting that the proposition of independents would be rejected. He was authorized to send a declination and enclose a letter from regular candidates in which they say they are in the hands of the people and of committee, and decline the proposition for candidates on both sides to withdraw and not be candidates before a new convention. It is understood this practically ends negotiations for compromise.

A LESSON FROM PENNSYLVANIA.

Interest in the political movements of the present year is still fixed chiefly on the contest in Pennsylvania. Division of the republican party of the state growing out of the opposition to Cameron and his methods threatens to defeat the party, and the longer the differences are discussed the more irreconcilable do they become. If two republican tickets remain in the field the success of the democrats is as nearly certain as anything in politics can be;—and yet it might possibly not occur, for the reason that although the democratic nominations are admitted on all sides to be exceptionally good ones, yet many members of that party are losing to no small extent their old habit of voting as a solid body. Again there is an element in it everywhere which the republican machine can readily control, particularly when well provided with the necessary "material." An attempt upon this class is now being made in all parts of Pennsylvania, with a view of securing votes to supply the deficiency which will certainly be caused by the withdrawal of so many independent republican ballots from the support of the Cameron ticket.

A writer in the New York Times, who has been taking a view of the situation throughout Pennsylvania, finds the independent movement more deeply rooted than at any former time in the history of the state. A very large part of those who are openly committed to it are so because of strong feeling in favor of different and, as they believe, better methods than those of the "bosses" and the "machine." This is not a transient feeling, but an earnest one, and it covers the ground not merely of opposition to Cameron as a leader, but a great many other things—the peddling out of the federal places as "spoils," the removal of competent federal officers for private political ends, the assessment of public officials, and other offensive features of "practical politics." There has been so much of all this that a good many thousands of republican voters in the state are settled in the conviction that they cannot keep company further with the "boss" system, and that if the republican party submits itself to it they will act independently hereafter and cast their votes to please themselves. This element gives a backbone to the independent movement so firm and so sure that it makes the situation all the more remarkable. So earnest are these independents that, if the ticket which they are supporting were withdrawn, a great part of them would vote directly for the democratic candidates as the best means remaining to them of administering the rebuke which they are resolved that the arrogant bosses of the republican party shall recieve.

Gen. Beaver, who was Cameron's spokesman at the Chicago convention, where Pennsylvania was made to support the third-term conspiracy against the wishes of the whole mass of the party, is now Cameron's candidate for governor. The [illegible] republicans have nominated for the position a man named Stewart, now a state senator and long conspicuous in the politics of the state. Pattison, the democratic candidate, is supposed to be very strong, since he was elected comptroller of the city of Philadelphia at the time when the city gave Garfield twenty thousand majority. Good judges say that as matters now stand, with three tickets in the field, Pattison's election is as sure as he need desire. The independent movement appears to be large enough to prevent the success of Beaver and his ticket, under any circumstances that can now be anticipated. Organizers of the independent campaign declare themselves to be highly encouraged with the reports from the state. They believe that they may get for Stewart in November a majority of the republican vote—in other words, that he may lead Beaver, if the latter should remain in the field. There are many counties in which the real sympathy of the party generally is largely with the independent movement, though this does not appear superficially as yet. It is believed, however, that it will appear that the further progress of the canvass will be all in the direction of developing the independent strength and reducing that of Cameron's following; and in such case it would be very reasonable to believe that of the 370,000 republican votes of the state, which might be expected in a united party effort, 200,000 would go to Stewart. The Times writer thinks it probable that the managers of the machine are not informed of the extent to which it is undermined. They hear encouraging reports, and are told continually by many of their agents that there is not enough independent strength to cause alarm; but this is not the conclusion of any impartial observer, while the confidence with which the independent leaders survey the field and declare their purposes indicates that they know themselves to be sure of a large public support. Again, the movements in the Cameron camp belie the professions of confidence which the managers put forth. They would propose nothing to the independents, with a view to settlement of differences, if they supposed they could ride them down.

This is the condition to which the boss and machine system has brought the republican party of a great state. The system cannot be more safely tolerated in Oregon than in Pennsylvania.

CLEANLINESS AND HEALTH.

For some months New York has been cleaning her streets and back yards in the hope of improving the appearance of things and of lowering the death rate which of late has been frightfully large. The latter hope has been disappointed, the rate for the twelve months ended June 30th being 30.97 per thousand. The work of bringing it down to 30 per thousand is engaging the attention of the city authorities, and if there is profit of health in cleanliness they propose to enjoy it.

Experience in London shows that the increased cleanliness of a city is sure to be rewarded by a decrease of mortality. The death rate of London was lower during 1880, when it was 21.5 per thousand inhabitants, than during all but three of the forty years since 1840. During the thirty years from 1840 to 1870, the average death rate was 23.4 per thousand inhabitants. During the ten years from 1870 to 1880 the average death rate was but 22.4 per thousand. The mortality was less during the last half of the decade than during the first, showing that the efforts to improve the sanitary condition of the city were successful. It is believed that more than 70,000 lives were saved during the decade as the result of sanitary improvements.

The question of public health is going after a while to be a very serious problem in Portland, fine as is our climate in a sanitary point of view. Until recently we have had no general sewers, and at present they are few in number, while, perhaps, not more than one house in ten has sewer connection. The city is honey-comed with privy and drainage vaults which daily receive deposits of poisome matter. Within a few years we shall have five thousand pest holes breathing forth dealy poisons. Nor are the sewers protection against the evils of bad drainage. If the river were always at the lower stages the system would be as nearly perfect as possible; but for several weeks of the early summer season it is backed up to a stage corresponding with the sewer levels of Fifth or Sixth streets, opposite the main portion of the city, and several streets further back in the northern end. The sewers of course will not empty themselves upon these levels except as pressure comes from higher ground. This pressure is constant and maintains a constant movement but so sluggish that the pipes become foul. Each man-hole and the connections in residences then breathe poisons of the worst sort. Engineers will find in the problem which this situation presents a field for study and an opportunity to do something important. It is not among the things unreasonable that Portland will eventually build a drainage way to the Columbia river, whose swift current would at all times empty the pipes. Portland's streets are clean, not always of mud and dust, but of unwholsome dirt; but there are some back yards which need attention.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Recent experiments in the use of the electric light have demonstrated that for general illuminating purposes it is cheaper than gas. In our own city it has been employed in a limited way—to light Weidler's mill and the O. R. & N. Co's docks—with results highly satisfactory. The difference in the cost in this instance between gas and the electric light has not been estimated but is thought to be in favor of the latter. The greatly superior quality of the electric light is, too, an important consideration. The value of this light for residence illumination has been much discussed and in several instances practically tested and proved. The most recent trial was made by Mr. Wm. Crookes, F. R. S., who has attracted much attention by a letter to the London Times describing his experiments. He expended about $1500 to equip his house with apparatus for electric lighting. He used a 3½ horse-power Otto gas engine to drive a Burgen dynamo for the generation of electricity, and he placed in the building fifty lamps, each of twenty candle power. He was not able to use all these lamps at the same time, but switches were placed in cupboards in each room so that the lamps in any part of the house could be turned off when not required. He lighted his house with electricity for six months and found that the expense of such light five hours each night would be $151 50 a year. He estimates that to produce an equal supply of light with gas would cost $209 a year. The demonstration results so satisfactorily that everyone must wonder why his system of lighting is not everywhere introduced without delay. Such demonstrations have not yet convinced the public that the problem of lighting private houses with electricity more economically than they can be lighted with gas has yet been solved, but repeated experiments will do it in time. Portland is finely situated for the employment of natural power for purposes of lighting. The unceasing force of the Willamette falls at Oregon City could easily be conveyed by wire to this city, and would at a trifling cost furnish all the power wanted.

Congressman Bayne is a "wild-eyed statesman" from one of the Pittsburg districts in congress who failed to have a postmaster appointed, and to keep in an internal revenue collector who had the office twelve years at $4000 a year. Now he turns up a "reformer," and wants the United States constitution amended so as to have postmasters and collectors of internal revenue elected by the people. The New York Herald considers Mr. Bayne a "quack", reformer and wading in deep water.

The failures of the first six months of 1882 seem very numerous, 3597, but the country is large, and has 869,000 persons engaged in business. The liabilities were about $50,000,000, while, for the failures of the first half of 1881 they were but about 40,000,000. However, there were a third more failures during the first half of 1878 than during the six months just passed, so that the statistics are not discouraging.

The Astoria paper, viewing the fishing situation from close range, opposes the proposition to fish after August 31st with the ardor of serious interest. The cannerymen will do very wrong to continue operations in defiance of the law, while considerations of business prudence ought to have weight. To establish the precedent will seriously endanger the future of the salmon business on the Columbia river.

There is no good reason why Logan's bill to allow Chinamen now in the West Indies to pass through this country on their way home, should not pass. Of course their passage should be so guarded that they could not stop by the way, but this could easily be done. Indeed, not to allow this simple request would be an act of national discourtesy.

Judge Black is in Chicago. He has been interviewed. He thinks Hancock will be the Democratic candidate for president in 1884. General Hancock lately visited Judge Black at his home in New York. Judge Black also thinks that Mr. Blaine will be the Republican candidate against Hancock.

Portland, Or., July 6, 1882.

We, the undersigned, representing the different fire insurance companies doing business in this city, witnessed a fire test on Saturday evening, June the 24th, by Mr. D. M. Dunne, of the firm of Messrs. KELLY, DUNNE & CO., on a section of shingled roof, painted with two coats of THE CALIFORNIA FIRE AND WATER-PROOF PAINT CO'S PAINT. The roof was subjected to a strong fire, composed of dry kindlings saturated with coal oil, for TWENTY MINUTES. On clearing away the fire, the shingles were only charred. We strongly recommend it for shingled roofs, as we are satisfied that any roof painted with it will not catch fire from brands or any ordinary fire exposure.

CITY.

[illegible] to Sitka.—Steamer [illegible] which is going on the Alaska route, will leave San Francisco the [illegible] [illegible] on her regular trip direct to Sitka. The steamship [illegible], which is now to Alaska, will return direct to Portland. At Portland Alaska excursionists have the option of either via the Dalles and the ocean to Victoria, at which point they will be transferred to the steamer [illegible], or via Kalama, the Northern Pacific Railroad and Puget Sound, the expense being the same either way [illegible] for the round trip. The military band which will accompany the excursion is to consist of from sixteen to twenty-four pieces. Already a great many of the best names have been handed in for this [illegible] delightful trip. There are still, however, a number of large and desirable rooms left, [illegible] Parties should hand in their names at once. The [illegible] rate of fare, the elegant accommodations, [illegible] the music, and those will [illegible] the [illegible] will render this one of the most [illegible] as well as attractive trips [illegible].

[illegible]—Miss Mary A. Backenstos was found dead in her room yesterday morning. Her brother, J. S. Backenstos, called her to break fast in the morning as usual, but receiving no answer, became alarmed, and bursting open the door found her lying partly on the bed and partly on the floor, life extinct. She could not have been dead long, as the body was quite warm. Miss Backenstos was subject to epileptic fits, and from the effects of one of them she probably died. She was a native of Illinois, and came to this city in 1858 with her father, Col. Backenstos, who commanded a regiment of Mounted Rifles in the Mexican war. An inquest was held and a verdict rendered in accordance with the above facts. Her remains will be buried from the Catholic cathedral this forenoon at 9 o'clock.

Baptist Mission Board.—The annual meeting of this body, which is under the auspices of the North Pacific Baptist Association, was held in this city yesterday. There were present Rev. J. A. Gray and Mr. N. W. Garretson, of this city, Rev. J. C. Baker, of Salem, Rev. Hunsaker, of McMinnville, and Rev. J. H. Tegle, of Oregon City. A harmonious session was held, and the reports of missionary work from all parts of the field were of a most encouraging nature. An extensive field is covered by the board, embracing Oregon, Washington Territory, Idaho and British Columbia. About $10,000 have been expended during the past year in missionary operations.

Legion of Honor.—D. S. Van Slyke, deputy supreme chancellor, will organize a council of the American Legion of Honor at East Portland, in Odd Fellows hall, on Tuesday, July 25th, at 8 P. M. Pioneer and Oregon councils, of Portland, will be present and will assist in the institution of the council and installation of officers. All persons on the roll, or others wishing to become charter members, ladies or gentlemen, should get their papers filled out immediately to save time and confusion on the evening of organization.

Boy Lost.—A little son of Joseph Leach, aged five and a half years, strayed away from the corner of Columbia and First streets last night and has not yet been found. His father, who lives in the country, left him at the above place while he went to the lower end of the city after a load of coke. When he returned about an hour later the boy was missing. He is barefooted. The police were notified but have not yet found him.

Those Smallpox Blankets.—Jack McDonald, arrested for stealing blankets from the pest house, was tried for grand larceny yesterday in the state circuit court and acquitted. Smallpox didn't get him and the penitentiary won't have him. Who is there now to mourn for Jack? Not one.

Lecture this Evening.—At the Presbyterian church. The usual services will be conducted by the pastor, Dr. A. L. Lindsley.

HAZEL KIRKE.

Another packed house greeted Hazel Kirke last night at New Market, and the company having become accustomed to the none too good acoustics of the theater, their voices were more distinct. In the hands of a company of ordinary actors who had played together for three years, Hazel Kirke would have been a satisfactory performance. What shall then be said of a company whose leading artists are persons of undoubted talents and of ripe experience, whose ancestry were actors of merit; a company chosen from the centers of dramatic art with special fitness for the characters essayed; a company for whose members the parts seemed created, not they for the parts; in short, a company whose performances leave nothing to be desired.

Of Mr. Couldock's impersonation of "Dunstan Kirke," the stern old miller, a character analogous to "Farmer Allen" we must say that it approaches perfection. He does not strive for dramatic effect, never rants, never in strong emotion raises his voice to the unpleasant pitch which most actors reach, and never seems to act. In this is his chief charm. He presents an every day character in all phases true to nature; and if one were asked in what particular Mr. Couldock excelled, the answer would be: naturalness. His voice is remarkably expressive, and his Yorkshire dialect perfect. In Miss Ellsler are shown the same good qualities that mark Mr. Couldock's acting, but the role of "Hazel" gives greater scope. She is first the innocent girl hesitating between duty and love, then the happy wife, then the self-sacrificing heroine, then the wanderer refused admission to home, and finally the reunited wife. And with what wonderful finesse Miss Ellsler presents these varied conditions of life! She is absolutely free from staginess and hides all semblance of art. She never "tears a passion to tatters." She has eschewed all conventionalities of the emotional drama school and has created a line of acting so uniformly excellent that it would be difficult for the most captious critic to suggest the least improvement. Mr. Frank Weston as "Squire Rodney," and Mr. Harry Lee as "Arthur Carringford," present two splendid types of noble manhood and invest the roles with grace, dignity and feeling. Miss Kate Denin-Wilson, who in years past thrilled Portland audiences, has only one scene, but that one is given admirably. Mrs. Davenport makes an interesting Yorkshire mother, and brings to the part the requisite tenderness and pathos. The fun makers are Miss Ada Gilman as "Dolly Dutton," Mr. Bowser as "Pittacus Green," and Mr. Cahill as "Barney O'Flynn." A more sparkling, vivacious, merry-eyed soubrette than Miss Gilman would be hard to picture.

Why the man who adapted Hazel Kirke ever put such a mess of nonsense into the mouth of "Pittacus Green" is a mystery. In order to establish a vein of humor through a sad play he makes the comedian at times say and do things tolerable only from a circus clown or among minstrels. But because the author was crude, it does not follow that the actor was unsatisfactory. On the contrary, Mr. Bowser is a capital comedian and gets from the funny situations all there is in them.

Hazel Kirke will be repeated every evening this week and at Saturday matinee. That it will have a successful run, is already assured, by the advance sale of reserved seats.

BRIEF MENTION.

Hazel Kirke to-night.

This evening the circus.

The Columbia due to-night.

U. S. circuit court has adjourned until to-morrow.

Fourteenth street, from B to C, is almost ready for travel.

The will of A. H. Buckman has been filed for probate.

Two excellent running races and a trot at City View Park to-day.

The B street improvement, from Twelfth to Sixteenth, is much needed.

Conroy, the tax-gatherer, failed to make out a case of abusive language against Captain Love.

Charles Spence, who borrowed a shirt from a companion and failed to return it, was fined $25 yesterday.

T. H. Hefferan, with only one arm and one leg, has been arrested for stealing a watch and chain from a drunken man. He will have a hearing to-day.

Letters in the counting room of The Oregonian for W. M. M. (2); Oregon; Housekeeper (3); K. G. & K.; Home (4); E. A. E.; H. (2); Rest; D. G.; Partner.

Will the Chinamen ever learn that they can't keep clothing brought to them to wash? Gum Chung is in trouble on this account and will be tried in the police court to-morrow.

Mr. D. G. Waldron, who will be remembered as one of the jolliest of advance agents, is in the city, representing the San Francisco Wasp. He takes a pride in showing the nickel watch and the miniature clock offered as premiums by his journal.

SHERMAN'S CIRCUS TO-NIGHT.

Sherman's educated horses and select family circus give their first performance to-night on the skating rink lot, Fourth and Pine streets. To-day they will make a street parade, the horse Tommy riding in a wagon, followed by the performers on horseback, and preceded by their band chariot. Among the artists is Mons. August Seigrist, the great tight-rope walker; Max Adler and Dury, gymnasts; Miss Katie Cross, Senorita Palmyra, daring riders; Mr. Fred Mackley and wife, Augusto and Burrenthe comical clowns, and others, in all twenty-seven people. In speaking of this entertainment the Daily Evening Bulletin says: "These wonderful horses have not only astonished, but have won the admiration of thousands during their stay in this city." The Daily Chronicle says: "They perform innumerable tricks by word of command, and do the bidding of their master without whip, sign or motion." The Daily Examiner says: "They approach nearest to human reasoning powers of any animals ever exhibited." The Daily Call says: "Sherman's educated horses show the power of human patience in developing equine sagacity. The exhibition is marvelous." The Daily Evening Post says: "Never before in this city has there been seen horses so marvelously well trained." The Weekly Wasp says: "Sherman's horses and select family circus should be seen by every man, woman and child." The California Spirit of the Times says: "It is the most interesting and wonderful exhibition we have ever witnessed."

To intending visitors to the races during the next three days, the most favorable and to be enjoyed way in which to get there is by the macadamized road to the "White House," where the genial and ever attentive "White House Bob" will receive all comers and dispense hospitalities to them in regal style, and transport them across the river by ferry, which leaves them a short distance from the course. No way in which one can take your departure from the city offers such advantages for a first class time as by this route to the races.

Delicious Cream Soda Water, Vichy, grateful, at Pfunder's, First and Ash streets.

The views of Oregon and Columbia river scenery made by Davidson, photographer, attract much attention and are in great demand. His gallery, corner First and Yamhill, Portland, is a busy place.

Mrs. R. C. Spencer will return to Portland and resume her classes in drawing and painting about the 1st of August. A model will be furnished once a week for those who desire to study from life.

In the Blood Horse Association races at San Francisco, in May, she ran [illegible] to [illegible], Lucky B. and Parnam, but she will not leave them behind now, [illegible] and will be heard from as a victor in future. We append a recapitulation of the race:

The second race was one of the special stake races that have been gotten up here during the past three months for the get of Kisber and Lockwood. It closed with quite a large number of entries, of which four came to the posts. The race was a most ridiculous burlesque, and yet there was so much money staked upon it that we append a schedule of the

When the horses were called out Joseph Buchtel's colt Sheriff, asked to be excused. As this reduced the field down to an untried colt, named Charles Albert, and gave the buyers on the "field" virtually no show for their white alley. Xilophone was started in the race, for what purpose, the Lord only knows. Black Hawk went off in the lead, and won in straight heats, without being pushed, Xilophone being distanced in the first heat. The race was a very shabby affair, compared with the showy performances of Sweet Home, Tempest and Katy Lynch, and convinces us that Portland is twenty years behind Walla Walla in breeding trotting horses. WHOLESALE WAREHOUSE BUSINESS.

Twenty-one Warehouses on the Narrow Gauge Roads Leased by James Steel & Co.

Since his retirement as cashier of the First National Bank, Mr. James Steel has leased the warehouses of the east and west side narrow gauge roads for ten years, and has laid the foundations for an extensive wholesale storage and commission business. The warehouses are located as follows: Brownsville, Belleville, Lawson's, Lang's, South Santiam, Scio, West Scio, West Stayton, Waldo Hills, Macleay's, East Side Junction, Howell's Prairie, Thompson's, Woodburn, Forse and French Prairie on the east side; and Airlie, Dallas, White's, Armstrong's and Perrydale on the west side. Besides these, Steel & Co. are building a warehouse in Coburg, Linn county, and one in Monmouth, Polk county, both being combination bin and sack warehouses, and each with a capacity of 60,000 bushels.

Arrangements such as are desired are not yet complete, but by next year there will be agents at every one of the above stations and cleaners in every warehouse. About half the warehouses are now supplied with agents. The firm proposes to work the business of storing and selling wheat into a perfect system, better for the producer and more satisfactory to buyers. They will store the grain at customary rates, advance money upon it, and sell, when desired, for the farmers, charging a nominal commission. The proceeds of such sale will be paid to the owner in cash at the warehouses. The firm have a private telegraph line from their office, corner Front and Ash, connecting with all telegraph lines on the railroads, and transmit to their agents every day a report of the market, which is furnished free to all patrons of the warehouses.

PORTLAND, OR., July 19, 1882.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Portland, Oregon—Gentlemen:

We, the undersigned, to whom was referred the matter of the employment of Chinese laborers by contractors who are improving the public streets in this city, have examined into this matter and find that this question has been decided by the supreme court of this state in the case of the City of Portland vs Perry G. Baker. In this case the facts were agreed upon in the circuit court, and it was further stipulated that if, upon the agreed facts, the law be that the defendant violated the law, then he shall be adjudged guilty as charged in the complaint, otherwise he shall be deemed and adjudged not guilty. The circuit court found the defendant not guilty. An appeal was taken to the supreme court, and the decision of the circuit court was affirmed. We cannot see that anything further can be done in this matter. Respectfully submitted,

S. W. RICE, City Attorney.

WELCH, THE SADDLER.

Letters Received from Honolulu Corroborative of the One Written by Rev. J. A. Cruzan.

Two letters from Honolulu have just been received at the office of [illegible] [illegible] in relation to the saddler, Welch, giving additional testimony as to his having [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] since his disappearance from Portland. One is written by William [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. He was asked to make inquiries, and [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] by a Norwegian gentleman of the [illegible] of Honolulu. He told me that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. He also knew at the time that the papers here [illegible] [illegible] were reasoning that Mr. Christensen had murdered him. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. This Norwegian [illegible] [illegible] Mr. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that Mr. Christensen should be [illegible] [illegible] [illegible], and [illegible] will be happy to do anything to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. He says he can get the signatures of the most influential men in Honolulu, amongst [illegible] [illegible] testifying that this James Welch who was here working in his harness shop is the same James Welch who was in partnership with Mr. Christensen in Portland, and that he was alive in March of this year. Mr. Hammer told me that when Welch left here he spoke of going to various places on the coast, among them Sacramento and British Columbia, but that he was not [illegible] where he might settle."

Mr. Hammer, who is mentioned above, is the saddlery [illegible] to the Rev. Mr. Cruzan in his recent letter. The other letter is from W. E. Foster, to whom Welch applied for work when he first came to Honolulu, and gives an account of his wanderings among the islands. He says:

"Certainly Welch is worth a good many dead men yet, or at least was when he left here last March. He came here to Honolulu last August or September, and a day or two after arriving he came into my shop and asked me for a job of saddle or harness making. I did not have a job for him on account of times being dull. He told me that he came from Portland, Oregon, and that he had been in business there; that he had sold out to his partner and not liking the country thought he would take a trip to Honolulu. After remaining in Honolulu some two or three weeks and not succeeding in getting employment he took a trip around among the other islands, and still not getting employment, he returned to Honolulu after three or four weeks. He then obtained employment from a Mr. Rose as a saddle maker. After working for Rose about two months, the latter saw in the San Francisco Chronicle where J. Welch, a harness maker, had collected $2500 of his partner's bills in Portland, Or., had decamped with the money and was supposed to have gone to the Sandwich Islands. When Mr. Rose saw this he immediately discharged Welch, saying that he did not wish to have such a man in his employ. After that Welch worked in two other shops. He then went to San Francisco, where he arrived in the fore part of last April. I know this to be true, because I was at San Francisco myself and left there April 11th. I saw Welch's name on the passenger list of a sailing vessel which arrived from San Francisco."

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 20, 1882.

DECISION IN U. S. CIRCUIT COURT BY DEADY, J.

U. S. Circuit Court, District of Oregon.

Wednesday, July 19, 1882.

Sarah H. Hebert vs. the Mutual Life Ins. Co. No. [illegible]. Suit in equity for specific performance of contract for policy of insurance.

(1) EQUITY—SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF CONTRACT. Equity has jurisdiction to enforce the performance of a contract to deliver a policy of insurance and having taken jurisdiction for that purpose, will, in case there has been a loss or death retain it for the purpose of decreeing payment of the policy.

(2) CERTAINTY. A contract to issue a plain life insurance policy upon the life of the applicant for $15,000, payable to his wife, according to the form in use by the company is sufficiently certain to be enforced; and if there is any extrinsic reason why it should not be enforced, as that it was procured by fraud or falsehood it must be set up as a defence.

DEADY, J.

This suit is brought to enforce a contract for the delivery of a life insurance policy for the sum of $15,000 and for a decree that the defendant pay the same to the plaintiff.

The bill alleges that the defendant, on June 11, 1878, and since was and has been a corporation organized under the laws of New York and doing a life insurance business in Oregon; that on said day Oliver Hebert of Marion county, Oregon, the husband of the plaintiff, applied to the agents of the defendant in said county for insurance upon his life of $20,000, payable to the plaintiff, and paid them the first quarter's premium thereon, to-wit: $105 60, which sum was by them forwarded to the defendant upon the condition "that if the amount of the risk should be reduced a proportionate share of the premium should be refunded," and if the whole application should be rejected it would all be refunded; that subsequently the defendant rejected $5000 of said application, and on August 26, 1878, remitted to said Hebert $26 40 of said payment and "accepted, received and retained" the remaining $79 40 as the premium upon the first quarter of such insurance, and in consideration thereof "did insure the life of said Hebert from such time in the sum of $15,000," payable upon the death of said Hebert to the plaintiff; and also agreed "to issue and deliver unto said Hebert a 'plain life insurance policy' upon his own life according to the customary form adopted and in use by the defendant for said sum payable as aforesaid," which agreement it has hitherto neglected and refused to perform; that about September 8, 1878, at said county, said Hebert died, and the plaintiff thereupon demanded of the defendant said policy and the payment of said insurance which was refused; and, that by reason of the refusal to issue said policy the plaintiff is unable to "enforce her rights in an action at law," wherefore she brings this suit and prays the defendant may be required to deliver to her "a plain life insurance policy" upon the life of said Hebert for the sum aforesaid, to take effect from the date of the contract aforesaid and payable to the plaintiff and for a decree against the defendant for said sum of $15,000 with interest.

The defendant demurs to the bill, because: (1), The plaintiff upon the case stated is not entitled to the relief prayed for; (2), The policy is not sufficiently described; and (3), The plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law.

The jurisdiction of a court of equity to compel the specific performance of a contract for insurance is well established. The policy cannot be obtained by an action at law, although one might be maintained upon it for the insurance after it is issued. But a court of equity having taken jurisdiction for the purpose of compelling the delivery of the policy will retain it where there has been a loss or death for the purpose of decreeing payment of the policy, both to avoid expense and because the latter relief is a mere incident of the former. Angell on F. & L. Ins. § 34; Perkins v. The Washington Ins. Co., 4 Cow., 645; Carpenter v. The M. S. Ins. Co., 4 Sand. Ch., 408; Briggs v. S. I. Ins. Co., 5 Sag., 304.

Nor does there appear to be any uncertainty as to the nature of the contract or the form or effect of the policy, as stated in the bill. The agreement was for "a plain life insurance policy" upon the life of the deceased for $15,000, payable to the plaintiff "according to the customary form adopted and in use by the defendant," for which it was paid and had received one quarter's premium.

If there is any reason not appearing on the face of the bill why the defendant should not be compelled to perform its contract, as that it was procured by fraud or falsehood, the defendant can set it up as a defence.

The demurrer is overruled.

William H. Holmes for the plaintiff.

Thomas N. Strong for the defendant.

THE HIGHER EDUCATION.

As Explained by [illegible] and [illegible].

Carl Schurz, in College Address.

As to higher education, such as is or should be afforded by our colleges and universities, we cannot [illegible] have too large a conception of its objects, considering the needs of democratic society. It goes without saying that these objects are not exhausted by cramming students' [illegible] with the knowledge required [illegible] drudgery of some profession or [illegible] and still less by giving young [illegible] that veneering which may enable them to masquerade as superior beings in the circle of fashionable superficiality. The same general principle applies to the college as to the elementary school, only [illegible] higher [illegible]. The college can give its students, most [illegible], after all, only a little share of the general knowledge [illegible] by giving them only a [illegible], it can show them the gleaming veins of precious treasure, and furnish them tools and teach them the use of tools with which to work the lode. This will [illegible] their ambition to keep those tools effectively at work after the college days are over. That is the way students are formed—genuine, thinking students, I mean, who will remain students all their days, whatever profession or occupation they may embrace—whether they devote themselves in quiet seclusion to the researches of "science for its own sake," or whether they engage in the bustling competitions and contests of life. It is of the highest importance [illegible] that young men leaving college [illegible] with them an intelligent and [illegible] not only of what they have learned, but of what they have not learned. What a student can learn at college he should so learn that it impress him with a profound sense of his ignorance. The more a man knows well the more keenly he feels how little he knows and how much more he ought to know. Among the noblest and most fruitful moments of a man's life are those when a deep and keen consciousness of his own ignorance most seriously disturbs him, for these moments stimulate the healthiest thirst for knowledge. Nothing is better calculated to protect young men against that early bankruptcy which is apt to overtake those who rush at "once into" practical life with the little they have learned, thinking they have learned enough, and trying to do a large business upon a very small mental capital.

A Visit to Victor Hugo.

Chicago Inter-Ocean, Paris Letter.

Six Chicagoans went to see Victor Hugo last Sunday night. He receives every Sunday evening, and always has a dozen or more of his friends to dinner with him. We knew that the regulation way to do was to write to the poet's secretary, asking permission to come to pay our respects to the old gentleman. But we had neglected to do that, and some of us were on the point of leaving Paris, so we wrote our names on a card with the magic word Chicago thereupon, and wended our way to the avenue of Victor Hugo. We were shown into the family parlor, a pleasant room in cream and crimson, with tapestry-lined walls, a Venetian chandelier, an odd old clock, and a few choice bronzes here and there. Two visitors were waiting for dinner to finish, although it was already 9 o'clock. By and by the old poet and his friends came in. He is much more gentle-looking than his pictures represent him to be. There is a certain ruggedness, almost coarseness apparent in all likenesses of him. This is not natural. The benign old face, with its crown of white hair, is singularly tender and lovely. His secretary presented us—"Americans who wished to salute the poet."

The gentlemen of our party shook hands, said and received a few pleasant words, and then our turn came.

Little Edith, a tiny maid of eight years, held up her little hand.

"At her age she may have an embrace," said the secretary, and the old poet kissed her upon the forehead, giving her his blessing. Then a very much excited young lady standing by cried as she saw that embrace: "Oh, am I too large to be kissed by the poet?"

"Yes, yes, mademoiselle," cried the secretary, but the lovely old poet said, "No, no, dear child." Then he took the excited young girl in his arms and gave her two good kisses, at which she was highly delighted and said, half crying: "I thank you a thousand times. I shall remember this honor forever."

And the poet said, with his hand on his heart: "No, no; it is I who must thank you, and it is I who shall not forget."

"Coming From the Derby."

Pall Mall Gazette.

A great deal has been written about the humors of the road in connection with the Derby, but, if the truth were told the humor is a little monotonous and displays itself with wearisome persistency in certain familiar shapes. A close observation for an hour and a half from a point of vantage of the procession of vehicles of all descriptions, between a bath ingenuity and a perambulator, which streamed last night along the Epsom road has resulted in the following enumeration of the humorous features of the road. Small wooden dolls stuck in the hatband, colored dust-veils of paper or gauze, pasteboard figures of men and horses, hats decorated with colored tissue paper, paper feathers in men's caps, long pasteboard horns on which hideous blasts are blown, Japanese umbrellas, sunshades of tissue paper, a few false noses and whiskers, penny leaden squirts of dirty water, some grotesque hats and little grotesque figures bearing a remote resemblance to Punch seated on the collars of the horses. Other humors of the road than these, beyond the general abandon of the endless stream of beery and dusty Bacchanals were few and far between. The pathos of the road was more noteworthy than the vulgar horse-play and gaudy decoration of the returning revellers. On each side of the noisy procession tramped a weary, footsore, silent multitude, dark with dust, clad in wretched raggedness. Some of them had never reached Epsom. In the afternoon, when the Derby was being run, they were lying asleep, barefoot, in the rank roadside grass between Morden and Ewell. Others had been to the Derby, not for pleasure, but on business. Men limped along carrying on their shoulders the box of empty stone bottles which, when filled with ginger-beer or lemonade, they had carried to Epsom for sale. It was a long walk without the weight, but they trudged along slowly but with a good heart. Of the more painful scenes inevitable when London slums empty themselves into the country we forbear to speak.

A FOOL ONCE MORE.

"For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of ailments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in humbug stuff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag with Hop Bitters on it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my folly proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her; she is now as well and strong as any man's wife, and it cost me only two dollars. Such folly pays."—H. W., Detroit, Mich.—Free Press.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,

THE

Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of

ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as Spermatorrhoea, of Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder he can cure within fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—82 and 134 Third St., opposite Masonic Hall. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A.M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P.M.

REDUCTION IN RATES.

Oregon & California Railroad Co.

GENERAL FREIGHT & PASSENGER OFFICE.

Portland, Oregon, July 15, 1882.

R. R. KNAPP, ESQ., President N. W. D. S. Association, Portland, Oregon.

Dear Sir: Parties attending your races will pay full fare over our roads, and on returning will present certificate signed by secretary (stating they have paid full fare over the road coming down, and attended the races). This certificate must be presented at our ticket office, corner F and First streets, when they will be sold return tickets to points on our lines from which they came at eighty per cent off from our regular mail train rates. This equals a reduction of forty per cent on round trip. On stock, full rates will be charged to the exhibition, and on certificate that full rates have been so paid, and stock has been on exhibition at races, and not changed ownership, they will be returned free, such certificate to be signed by the secretary. Yours truly,

E. P. ROGERS, G. F. & P. Agt.
